2019

maverick entrepreneur, product innovator, marketing genius

Prolific entertainer, business speaker, a perpetual marketer, and motivational performer, Shed's expertise in creativity, innovation and idea generation inspires significant, profitable changes that equip audiences with the tools to generate new ideas for increased sales and opportunity. Shed's instructive and inspiring talks showcase his business insight, methods for sales growth, tips for creative thinking and his own entrepreneurial journeys, to deliver to audiences concrete techniques that give any company practical advice to increase their bottom line. He fervently believes in 'failing upwards' by launching numerous ideas and learning from the amazing experiences they bring, which become the basis of his books, unique humorous shows and corporate speeches on creativity and innovation. Shed is an expert in ideas and often shares his three techniques which he uses to unlock creativity. Shed believes that "when an idea pops into your head, it can send you on amazing adventures – if you follow the idea all the way through." Shed has forged a highly innovative merchandising empire, creating conceptual novelty gifts, executive toys, best-selling adult sweets, books and even his own currency having sold over one and a half million products worldwide. Known as 'The Ideas Man,' Shed shares his concrete techniques for any audience looking for practical, innovative ideas to energize their organisation to think differently and focus on obtaining huge success. His range and rate of success is vast which make his performances wonderfully motivational and brilliantly entertaining.
